Public Act No. 17-239 (See Addendum A)

Background

The Department of Correction reserves the use of our highest level of supervision known as Administrative Segregation (AS) status for the most dangerous offenders whose violent behavior has demonstrated their inability to be safely managed in a general population setting. Recommendations for a hearing to determine placement on AS typically follow a significant incident that has proven to jeopardize the safety of the community, correctional staff or other offenders.

Examples of incidents that would meet the threshold for consideration include, but are not limited to:

- An inmate escape from custody;
- An inmate assault against an agency employee; and/or,
- An inmate related incident involving the use of a dangerous weapon.

Unlike other states, Connecticut does not place offenders on this status indefinitely and the goal is always to correct behavior and return to general population. We utilize a phase system with associated programming aimed to reinforce positive behavior through the gradual reinstatement of privileges.

Furthermore, in recognizing the unique challenges in providing positive behavior modification strategies to a mandated client, the Connecticut Department of Correction ensures that clinical and custodial assessment's, programming and multi-disciplinary reviews occur for each individual. Each of these contributing factors affect the determination on whether or not an inmate is placed or continues as being classified on Administrative Segregation.

Department of Correction Practices and Data Analysis regarding Restrictive Status Placement

Currently, out of a population of approximately 9,238 offenders there are 40 offenders on this status. That means that only .4% of our total population has been administratively placed on AS. A historical review of data related to offenders on this status shows a significant decrease in utilization over the years with the figures hovering between 150-250 between 2003 and 2010. Our success was memorialized in a publication co-authored by the Arthur Liman Public Interest Program at Yale Law School and the Association of State Correctional Administrators (ASCA). The study released in 2015, ranked Connecticut amongst the top five states in the country utilizing effective strategies to minimize the use of Administrative Segregation. The Connecticut

Reporting Requirements of Public Act 17-239

Public Act 17-239, An Act Concerning Isolated Confinement and Correctional Staff Training and Wellness created a notable amount of reporting requirements and employee training initiatives.

These reporting requirements include monthly statistics for the calendar year 2019 related to the following inmates classified restrictive statuses:

- Administrative Detention (AD), Punitive Segregation (PS), Transfer Detention (TD), Chronic Discipline (CD) and Special Needs (SN) (See Addendum H),
- Security Risk Group (SRG) (See Addendum I),
- Administrative Segregation/Time Intervals. Lastly, Public Act 17-239, An Act Concerning Isolated Confinement and Correctional Staff Training and Wellness created a reporting requirement that identifies specific time intervals in which inmates have spent classified on Administrative Segregation during calendar year 2019 (AS) (See Addendum J).
